2014 GUIDE of the YEAR

FIRST FOR HUNTERS

Dusty Schell is a fifth generation Wyoming native, working for Rough Country Outfitters and Guides, the family owned business. He graduated from high school in Glenrock, Wyoming. He then attended Casper College where he graduated with a construction management and agriculture degree in 2006. He spent part of the first four years of his life in hunting camp, then at 5 that extended to include a summer camp and pack trip business called High Country Adventures. He was happy his brother came along when he was 2 ½, then he had a built in camp buddy! He was the camp wood hauler, and grain bag filler at 5. He moved up from there to wrangler, packer, and whatever else he was big enough to do. He learned every aspect of the outfitting business from the ground up. Dusty wasn't in hunting camp as much as he wanted to be during high school, between homework, football, and high school rodeo, there was no time. He couldn't wait for school to get out in May, where the day after he and his family would pack up and head for the mountains and summer camp. He started guiding as soon as he graduated from college. Hunting clients love him! He is often requested and has a great sense of humor! In the off-season Dusty works for the family construction business, Schell Construction, LLC. Dusty got married last January, to Jessie, a sweet little agriculture teacher who is very supportive of his love for hunting and guiding. Dusty's appearance may change from year to year; long red hair one year, ZZ top beard the next, but what never changes is integrity, work ethic, and dedication to family and the family business. Jim and Deb couldn't be more proud and feel privileged to get to work with him! 🍷
