

WYOMING OUTFITTERS & GUIDES ASSOCIATION

2024 GUIDE OF THE YEAR BRANDON GRAY

BRANDON GRAY (BRANDO) was born and raised in the Upper North Platte Valley, in and around Encampment and Saratoga, Wyoming. His greatest pride lies in his three children, Tristan, Brayden and Piper, all raised right, hunting and fishing his favorite haunts in the valley as well! With Brandon's exceptional knowledge of the area and the game, it was only natural that he looked towards guiding hunters, sharing his experience and knowledge with others. In 2005, Brandon was licensed as a professional guide, employed by Jim and Deb Schell's "Rough Country Outfitters and Guides, LLC", successfully guiding many fortunate hunters to numerous trophy Elk, Mule Deer, Antelope, Moose, Black Bear and Mountain Lion!

Brandon's passions revolve around the great outdoors of Wyoming, and he enjoys sharing his extensive knowledge of the areas and the game he hunts. Brandon's professionalism in the field is second to none! He can be patient when needed, aggressive to a fault when required, positive minded and always giving his outfitter/employer and his hunting client 110% effort. He takes great pride in his work. Brandon is certainly the kind of professional guide that every outfitter wants on their payroll. He knows his job well and is a great ambassador for Wyoming and the outfitting industry. Brandon loves his job and feels it is an honor and privilege to be a licensed, professional guide in Wyoming, and has a great rapport and impeccable record with the personnel of the Wyoming Game and Fish Department! In the off season, you can find Brando at Shively North, as the lead technician, building Polaris side-by-sides and snow machines! He is also a veteran member of the Carbon County Search and Rescue Team. They say "an outfitter is only as good as the guides that works for them" we've been fortunate and proud to have Brandon Gray "riding for the RCO brand" for the past 20 years! 🦌
