

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF THE
WYOMING GAME AND FISH DEPARTMENT ANGI BRUCE

Dear fellow hunters,

As an Iowa native who has called Wyoming home for 8 years, there are times I still feel like I'm simply a guest enjoying the beautiful landscapes and experiences this state has to offer. I am always struck by how magical and even surreal Wyoming can be. I doubt this feeling will ever fade – I am not sure I'd want it to. Wyoming's quiet beauty has a way of inspiring awe in first-time visitors and lifelong residents alike, and I'm sure it will be the same for you as you plan your 2025 hunting trip to our state.

During my tenure as the Director of Wyoming Game and Fish, I've seen firsthand how our agency has carried on its long and proud tradition of wildlife conservation. Our Department could not do what it does without the support of our residents, whose dedication to preserving our wildlife runs deep.

Wyomingites value wildlife to a degree I never imagined. Their dedication to preserving our incredible wildlife and our Western heritage is more than a tradition – it is part of our identity. Our outfitters and guides exemplify this dedication, using their knowledge and experience to provide once-in-a-lifetime experiences to both new and seasoned visitors.

We hope your experience here brings a new appreciation for Wyoming's wildlife, and that you will share what you learn, see, and feel with others. Wyoming truly offers the best of the best, and the Game and Fish Department is committed to upholding this heritage to a standard that is the envy of the West.

*Enjoy your hunt, and enjoy Wyoming,
Angi Bruce*

FROM THE WYOGA PRESIDENT DUSTIN STETTER

Dear Fellow Outdoorsmen,

I am honored to personally welcome you to the Wyoming Outfitters and Guides Association. Together my wife Laura and I (both second generation outfitters) with our son Griffin, own and operate an outfitting business in the heart of the Wind River range. With such deep roots in the outfitting industry, we appreciate the value and contributions of WYOGA to an industry which is vital to the custom, culture, and economy of the state of Wyoming. While outfitting generates over 300 million dollars a year for Wyoming's economy, it does so much more than that. We as outfitters are able to share incredible resources, wild lands, and wild things that we pursue in an intimate way with people who would otherwise not have that opportunity. Whether you are hunting anything from a wild turkey to a bighorn sheep one of our members can ensure that your experience is unforgettable.

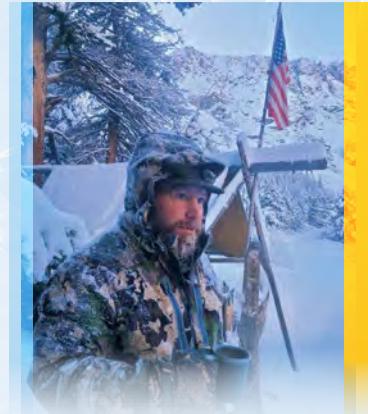

WYOGA diligently strives to promote and protect the resources and accessibility that makes our state so vibrantly unique. Through lobbying efforts, coordination and cooperation with state and federal agencies, our approach to conservation is as diverse as the bounty of our state. Our primary focus is on management through sound biology, and resource management. Holding steadfast to these principles ensures the ability for all outdoorsmen to experience and enjoy our state's abundant resources.

If you are seeking a Wyoming adventure, I strongly encourage you to work with one of our professionals. WYOGA members have proven time and again their dedication to these priorities, to the industry, and to your lasting memories.

I, along with our board of directors invite you to share your thoughts, questions or concerns with us. Please direct these to our office and our outstanding Administrator, Laurie Alexander, will send you in the right direction.

Cheers to hoping this fall finds you adventuring somewhere in Wyoming, making new friends and memories that last a lifetime!

*Best,
Dustin Stetter, WYOGA President*
